

Latin name – Filipendula Ulmaria

Fact file –Stems reddish and up to 2m high, leaves dark green upper but lighter underside, flowers in soft creamy white clusters.

Did you know? This plant contains salicylic acid, which has long been used as a painkiller, and the plant has often been used in Scandinavian mead drinks.